National Science Teachers Association Announces Recipients of its 2019
Teacher Awards Program

Top Science Educators From Around the Country Honored

ARLINGTON, Va.—April 8, 2019—The National Science Teachers Association \(NSTA\) announced the winners of the 2019 NSTA Teacher Awards program, which honors K–12 teachers, principals, professors and other science education professionals for their outstanding work and achievement in science education. The awards will be presented at a special banquet and ceremony on Friday, April 12, 2019, at the NSTA National Conference on Science Education in St. Louis, Missouri.

“Through their hard work and dedication, these outstanding educators are making a difference,” said NSTA President Christine Royce. “They make science come alive for their students and help them realize the importance of science in their daily lives.”

NSTA is honoring the following award recipients:

NSTA Distinguished Service to Science Education Award, sponsored by the U.S. Army Educational Outreach Program (AEOP)

- Nancy Kellogg, Colorado Science Education Network, Boulder, Colorado

NSTA Distinguished Teaching Award, sponsored by the U.S. Army Educational Outreach Program (AEOP)

- Bradford Hill, Science and Engineering Teacher, Mountainside High School, Beaverton, Oregon

NSTA Fellow Award

- Judith Lederman, Science Educator, Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, Illinois
